ANOTHER UWG Program... for boys and girls...

<http://www.advancedacademy.org/ysi/index.htm>

Young Scholars Institute is the name of it. The above URL will give you more information

There are three differences between Learn to Live and Young Scholars:

1. It is a "Co-Ed" program so if families with boys approach you (as many approach me) you could guide them there.
2. YSI program is made up of TWO one-week segments. Generally the first week is designed toward Arts & Humanities and the second toward Sciences. Applicants can apply for one or the other or both.
3. YSI accepts only 7th and 8th graders - so rising 8th and rising 9th graders - after which they do not work with them.
